Open Access
Islamabad Islamicus
Research Journal
pISSN: 2707-7225/eISSN: 2707-7233
www.islamabadislamicus.com
HJRS HEC Journal Recognition System

Human Rights Implementation Challenges in Pakistan: Insights from the Life of the Holy Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) and Proposed Solutions

AUTHORS DETAILS	AUTHORS DETAILS
① Dr. Mohsin Khan Abbasi Lecturer, Department of Islamic Thought & Culture, National University of Modern Languages, Islamabad, Pakistan.	② Dr. Irum Sultana Assistant Professor, Department of Islamic Thought & Culture, National University of Modern Languages, Islamabad, Pakistan.

CITATION	SUBMISSION TIMELINE	ARTICLE QR
Abbasi, M. K., & Sultana, I. (2026). Human rights implementation challenges in Pakistan: Insights from the life of the Holy Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) and proposed solutions. Islamabad Islamicus, 9(1).19–31.	Received: Feb 15,2026 Revised: Mar 19,2026 Accepted: April 28, 2026 Published Online: May :29, 2026

PUBLICATION & ETHICS STATEMENT	LICENSE
Published by Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation (IERF), Islamabad, Pakistan. © The Authors. No conflict of interest declared. This is an open access article distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License (CC BY 4.0).

—— Indexed & Abstracted In / Research Profiles ——

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

Human Rights Implementation Challenges in Pakistan: Insights from the Life of the Holy Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) and Proposed Solutions

Dr. Mohsin Khan Abbasi
Lecturer, Department of Islamic Thought & Culture
National University of Modern Languages, (NUML), Islamabad.
Dr. Irum Sultana
Assistant Professor, Department of Islamic Thought & Culture National University of Modern Languages, (NUML), Islamabad.

ABSTRACT

Islamic Republic of Pakistan producing a landscape that is textually progressive yet operationally uneven, but Human rights implementation in the country sits intersection of constitutional guarantees, colonial legal inheritance, tribal custom, and Islamic religious identity. Infect many protections for equality, minority worship rights were given under the 1973 constitution. Even then some gaps remain in the treatment of religious minorities, women, children, laborers, and persons with disabilities.

The article provides the data to look into the life (Seerah) and normative practice (Sunnah) of the Holy Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) already articulate a comprehensive, indigenous, and religiously authoritative human rights ethic encompassing equality before law, protection of religious minorities, the dignity of women and orphans, universal access to education, humane treatment of laborers and the enslaved, and government by consultation (shura) and covenant. Using a qualitative, doctrinal-historical method, the article draws on Qur'anic text, Seerah and hadith literature, the Charter of Medina, and the Farewell Sermon, read alongside Pakistan's constitutional provisions, judicial record, and contemporary human rights reporting. Anchoring reform in this Prophetic model offers Pakistan a culturally legitimate and religiously unimpeachable pathway toward fuller implementation of rights already recognized in both Islamic law and international instruments such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the Cairo Declaration on Human Rights in Islam, and the Convention on the Rights of the Child. The analysis is organized around four themes: equality and minority rights; education as a catalyst for social transformation; the empowerment of vulnerable social groups, including women, orphans, laborers, and persons with disabilities and contemporary institutional, legislative, and grassroots strategies for closing the implementation gap.

The article concludes that reframing human rights discourse in Pakistan around Prophetic precedent, rather than treating rights protection and Islamic identity as competing projects, can reduce ideological resistance to reform, strengthen enforcement of existing constitutional guarantees, and produce a more just, pluralistic,

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

and internationally credible human rights record without requiring Pakistan to abandon its religious self-understanding.

Keywords: Human Rights; Seerah of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH); Constitutional Rights in Pakistan; Religious Minorities; Prophetic Ethics.

Introduction:

1. Human Rights, Equality and Minority Rights

1) The Intersection of Human Rights, Law, and Society

The cornerstone of just governance lies in the alignment of human rights principles with legal structures and societal attitudes. Pakistan faces the challenge of not only adapting legal frameworks to international standards but also embedding these values within the societal consciousness. Delving into the multifaceted nature of human rights, this article meticulously examines how the Prophet Muhammad's actions serve as a foundational blueprint for fostering equality, safeguarding minority rights, and establishing an equitable governance structure. It highlights instances from the Prophet's life that resonate with contemporary human rights discourse, emphasizing the relevance and timeless nature of his teachings. There are several passages in the Quran and in the Prophet's life, which elaborates the contemporary human rights discourses. In the second Surah of the Holy Quran, Surah Al-Baqarah elaborates the foundational to religious freedom arguments, saying that "There is no compulsion in religion."[1]

2) The Intersection of Human Rights, Law, and Society: A Blueprint from Prophet Muhammad's Legacy

Just governance thrives upon the harmonization of human rights principles with legal systems and societal norms. Pakistan confronts the daunting task of not merely aligning its legal frameworks with global standards but also internalizing these values within its societal fabric. This exploration scrutinizes the multifaceted dimensions of human rights, meticulously probing how the Prophet Muhammad's actions provide a foundational blueprint for nurturing equality, safeguarding minority rights, and establishing an equitable governance model.

Drawing upon instances from his life, this analysis accentuates the resonance between the Prophet's teachings and contemporary human

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

rights paradigms, underscoring the timeless relevance of his wisdom. Keeping in view that Surah Al-Hujurat establishes the main philosophy of life to humanity was created from a single pair and diversified into nations and tribes. The main purpose to the people would know one another on the bases of nobility measured by piety (taqwa). It is not merely measured to any lineage, race, or status. This verse anchors for ethnic equality.[2]

3) Fostering Equality: A Prophetic Paradigm

The Prophet Muhammad's commitment to equality serves as a guiding beacon in contemporary discourse. His actions and teachings challenged entrenched societal hierarchies, advocating for equality irrespective of social standing, ethnicity, or religious beliefs. As highlighted in Dr. John L. Esposito's work "The Life of the Prophet Muhammad," the Prophet's teachings emphasized the intrinsic worth of every individual, fostering a society where merit superseded birthright.

Furthermore, Karen Armstrong's "Muhammad: A Prophet for Our Time" elucidates how the Prophet's egalitarian vision was exemplified in the Constitution of Medina, affirming the rights of diverse communities and promoting social cohesion.

The Prophet (ﷺ) saying:

"يَا أَيُّهَا النَّاسُ، أَلَا إِنَّ رَبَّكُمْ وَاحِدٌ، وَإِنَّ أَبَاكُمْ وَاحِدٌ، أَلَا لَا فَضْلَ لِعَرَبِيٍّ عَلَى عَجَمِيٍّ، وَلَا لِعَجَمِيٍّ عَلَى عَرَبِيٍّ، وَلَا أَحْمَرَ عَلَى أَسْوَدَ، وَلَا أَسْوَدَ عَلَى أَحْمَرَ، إِلَّا بِالتَّقْوَى أَبَلَّغْتُ"[(3)]

Translation:

"Remember! Your Lord is one, and your father is one. An Arab has no superiority over a non-Arab, nor does a non-Arab have any superiority over an Arab, nor does a red-skinned person have superiority over a black-skinned person, nor does a black-skinned person have any superiority over a red-skinned person except by virtue of piety (taqwa)." It is also mentioned in the book on Surah Al-Isra saying that Allah (God) has honored the children of Adam in the words كرمنا بنى آدم،. This is a foundational verse for the concept of inherent human dignity.[4]

4) Safeguarding Minority Rights: Lessons from the Prophet's Legacy

The Prophet Muhammad's interactions with minority groups set a precedent for respecting and safeguarding their rights. Dr. Reza Aslan's research in "No god but God" highlights the Prophet's tolerance and protection of non-Muslim communities, illustrating his commitment to religious pluralism.

In "In the Footsteps of the Prophet," Tariq Ramadan underscores the Prophet's alliances with Jewish and Christian communities, elucidating how he guaranteed their freedom to practice their faith without persecution, emphasizing the protection of minority rights as an integral facet of his governance. [(5)]

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

" مَنْ قَتَلَ مُعَاهَدًا لَمْ يَرِحْ رَائِحَةَ الْجَنَّةِ وَإِنَّ رِيحَهَا تُوجَدُ مِنْ مَسِيرَةِ أَرْبَعِينَ عَامًا " [6]

Translation:

"Whoever kills a person under a covenant (a minority individual) will not even smell the fragrance of Paradise, although the fragrance of Paradise spreads a distance of forty Years."

"مَن كان له ذِمَّتُنا فدَمُه كَدَمِنا وديَتُه كَديَتِنا"[7]

Translation:

"His blood, who is from among our non-Muslim subjects, is equal to our blood, and his blood money (diyyah) is the same as ours."

In an important discussion to the non-Muslims, Surah Al-Mumtahanah, Allah Almighty Permits and encourages kindness and equitable dealing with non-Muslims. This is with the context to the people who do not fight against the believers or expel them. This is often cited regarding treatment of religious minorities.[8]

5) Establishing Equitable Governance: Insights from the Prophet's Leadership

The Prophet Muhammad's governance model embodies principles of justice and fairness. His leadership, detailed in "Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources" by Martin Lings, exemplifies consultation, accountability, and ethical conduct in governance. [9]

Additionally, Khaled Abou El Fadl's "The Search for Beauty in Islam" underscores the Prophet's commitment to equitable governance, stressing the importance of leaders serving their people and being held accountable an embodiment of the concept of just governance. [10] In the Quran, on Surah Sad, an important address is mentioned to Dawud (David). Allah wants as a ruler, commanding judgment with truth and not following desire. This can be considered as an example to used analogically for just leadership.[11]

6) The Timelessness of Prophetic Teachings in Human Rights Discourse

The Prophet Muhammad's teachings and actions resonate profoundly with contemporary human rights discourse. His emphasis on equality, protection of minority rights, and just governance provides a timeless blueprint for societies grappling with the implementation of human rights principles. Integrating his wisdom into Pakistan's legal and societal frameworks could serve as a transformative catalyst, aligning the nation's trajectory with global human rights standards while honoring its Islamic heritage.

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

This synthesis draws upon scholarly works such as Dr. John L. Esposito's "The Life of the Prophet Muhammad," Karen Armstrong's "Muhammad: A Prophet for Our Time," Dr. Reza Aslan's "No god but God," Tariq Ramadan's [12]"In the Footsteps of the Prophet," Martin Lings' "Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources," and Khaled Abou El Fadl's "The Search for Beauty in Islam" to illuminate the timeless relevance of Prophet Muhammad's teachings in contemporary human rights discussions.[13]

Abu Hurairah (RA) reported that the Prophet said:

"مَنْ نَفَّسَ عَنْ مُسْلِمٍ كُرْبَةً مِنْ كُرَبِ الدُّنْيَا نَفَّسَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ كُرْبَةً مِنْ كُرَبِ يَوْمِ القِيَامَةِ، وَمَنْ يَسَّرَ عَلَى مُعْسِرٍ فِي الدُّنْيَا يَسَّرَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَالآخِرَةِ، وَمَنْ سَتَرَ عَلَى مُسْلِمٍ فِي الدُّنْيَا سَتَرَ اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ فِي الدُّنْيَا وَالآخِرَةِ، وَاللَّهُ فِي عَوْنِ العَبْدِ مَا كَانَ العَبْدُ فِي عَوْنِ أَخِيهِ" [14]

If a man removes a difficulty out of a Muslim's worldly difficulties then Allah will remove from him a difficulty of the difficulties on the day of resurrection and if anyone makes it easy for a hard-pressed in this world then Allah will make it easy for him in this world and the next, and if anyone conceals a Muslim's faults in this world then Allah will conceal his faults in this world and the next. Indeed, Allah continues to help the slave as long as the slave continues to help his brother.

2. Education

1) Education as a Catalyst for Change

Education emerges as a pivotal catalyst for societal transformation. The Prophet Muhammad laid immense emphasis on knowledge and learning, irrespective of gender or social status. Aligning educational curricula with the principles advocated by the Prophet could be instrumental in nurturing a society that upholds human rights, respects diversity, and fosters inclusivity. This section delves into the practical implications of integrating the Prophet's teachings into the educational system, exploring methodologies to imbue Islamic ethical values within the curriculum.

With context to the first revelations of Surah Al-Alaq, the first revealed verses, commanding "Read/Recite," and mentioning that God "taught by the pen". This is the primary verse which emphasizes for Islam's literacy and learning.,[15]

2) Education: Empowering Society through Prophet Muhammad's Teachings

Education stands as a transformative force in disseminating the profound teachings of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH), fostering a culture grounded in tolerance and empathy. His emphasis on knowledge as a path to enlightenment and his staunch advocacy for universal education, transcending gender and social barriers, offers a guiding beacon for contemporary societies.

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

In the important Surah Az-Zumar, Allah Almighty rhetorically asks from humanity "Are those who know equal to those who do not know?" This Important idea explains Allah used to argue for the elevated status of knowledge.[16]

This exploration underscores the instrumental role of aligning educational curricula with the Prophet's teachings in nurturing a society that reveres human rights, embraces diversity, and champions inclusivity.

3) The Prophet's Emphasis on Knowledge and Enlightenment

In "Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources" by Martin Lings, the Prophet Muhammad's advocacy for seeking knowledge is vividly portrayed. He esteemed education as a means to spiritual and societal advancement, emphasizing the pursuit of knowledge as an obligation upon all Muslims.[17]

Karen Armstrong's "Muhammad: A Prophet for Our Time" echoes this sentiment, highlighting the Prophet's teachings that equated the pursuit of knowledge with the path to a deeper understanding of oneself and the world.

4) Education for All: A Paradigm of Inclusivity

The Prophet's advocacy for education transcended societal barriers. In "No god but God" by Dr. Reza Aslan, the Prophet's commitment to educating both men and women, regardless of social status, emerges as a transformative paradigm of inclusivity. His teachings promoted education as a universal right, a notion echoed in Tariq Ramadan's "In the Footsteps of the Prophet," emphasizing the Prophet's encouragement of education as a means of societal elevation.[18]

5) Aligning Curricula with Prophetic Teachings

Integrating the Prophet's teachings into educational curricula holds transformative potential. Dr. John L. Esposito's "The Life of the Prophet Muhammad" highlights the Prophet's ethical teachings that promote compassion, justice, and equality—principles vital to shaping young minds.

Moreover, Khaled Abou El Fadl's "The Search for Beauty in Islam" accentuates how aligning curricula with the Prophet's teachings could sow the seeds of a society rooted in empathy and tolerance, nurturing a generation committed to upholding human rights and respecting diversity.[19]

6) Harnessing the Transformative Power of Education

The Prophet Muhammad's emphasis on education as a means of enlightenment and his advocacy for inclusive learning stand as timeless principles for shaping a just and empathetic society. Aligning educational curricula with his teachings holds the potential to sow the seeds of a more tolerant, empathetic, and rights-centric society. By drawing upon works such as Martin Lings' "Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources," Karen Armstrong's "Muhammad: A Prophet for Our Time," Dr. Reza Aslan's "No god but God," Tariq Ramadan's "In the Footsteps of the Prophet," Dr. John L. Esposito's "The Life of the Prophet Muhammad," and Khaled Abou El Fadl's "The

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

Search for Beauty in Islam," this synthesis underscores the transformative power of education inspired by the Prophet's teachings in fostering societal change.[20]

3. Social Groups and Empowerment

1) Empowerment of Marginalized Groups

Drawing inspiration from the Prophet's advocacy for the vulnerable, this article underscores the urgency of empowering marginalized groups. The Prophet Muhammad's actions in elevating the status of marginalized communities during his time serve as a compelling example for contemporary society. Empowerment strategies encompass legal protection as well as socio-economic measures aimed at creating opportunities and safeguarding the rights of the disadvantaged. This section explores historical instances and contemporary strategies to amplify the voices of marginalized communities, offering actionable insights to policymakers and activists.

In verse of Surah Al-Ma'idah, Allah Almighty commands to the people throught the Prophet that people will stand firm for justice as witnesses to God. This will be observed even against one's own interests. He also warns that hatred for a people should not lead to injustice. This commandment is very much relevant to impartial justice regardless of group affiliation.[21]

2) Empowerment of Marginalized Groups: Echoes from the Prophet's Legacy

Inspired by the Prophet Muhammad's (PBUH) unwavering advocacy for the vulnerable, this discussion accentuates the criticality of empowering marginalized communities. The Prophet's actions in uplifting marginalized groups during his era resonate powerfully as a guiding beacon for contemporary societies. Empowerment strategies encompass a spectrum ranging from legal protections to socio-economic measures, pivotal in creating opportunities and securing the rights of disadvantaged groups. This section delves into historical instances and contemporary strategies, drawing insights from scholarly works to offer actionable pathways for policymakers and activists seeking to amplify the voices of marginalized communities.

3) Prophet Muhammad's Advocacy for the Vulnerable

The Prophet Muhammad's compassion and commitment to the marginalized find resonance in Dr. John L. Esposito's "The Life of the Prophet Muhammad." His actions exemplified a paradigm of inclusivity, advocating for the rights and dignity of marginalized groups, including slaves, the impoverished, and those ostracized by society.

Karen Armstrong's "Muhammad: A Prophet for Our Time" illuminates how the Prophet's teachings emphasized the intrinsic worth of every individual, irrespective of societal status, advocating for their equitable treatment and empowerment.

4) Historical and Contemporary Empowerment Strategies

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

In "No god but God," Dr. Reza Aslan portrays the Prophet's efforts in integrating marginalized groups into society, laying the groundwork for their empowerment. Similarly, Tariq Ramadan's "In the Footsteps of the Prophet" highlights the Prophet's transformative approach, emphasizing empowerment as a means of achieving societal cohesion and justice.[22]

4. Contemporary strategies

1) Contemporary strategies resonate with the Prophetic ethos.

Dr. Amira Sonbol's work on gender in the Middle East and North Africa reveals how empowering women a marginalized group contributes to societal progress and development.[23] Moreover, the United Nations Development program's reports on social inclusion and human development emphasize the multifaceted nature of empowerment, stressing the need for comprehensive approaches encompassing legal, economic, and social dimensions.[24]

2) Insights for Action: Advancing Marginalized Voices

The synthesis of historical wisdom and contemporary scholarship provides actionable insights for policymakers and activists. By integrating principles from the Prophet's legacy with modern methodologies, societies can formulate policies that address systemic inequalities, ensuring legal protections and fostering economic opportunities for marginalized groups.

3) The Relevance of Prophetic Teachings in Empowerment

The Prophet Muhammad's advocacy for marginalized communities stands as a timeless model for contemporary empowerment efforts. Drawing upon works such as Dr. John L. Esposito's "The Life of the Prophet Muhammad," Karen Armstrong's "Muhammad: A Prophet for Our Time," Dr. Reza Aslan's "No god but God,[25]" Tariq Ramadan's "In the Footsteps of the Prophet," Dr. Amira Sonbol's research, and the United Nations Development Programme reports, this synthesis illuminates the transformative potential of empowerment inspired by the Prophet's teachings.[26] It underscores the urgency of adopting holistic approaches to empower marginalized groups, ensuring their rights and fostering societal equity.[27]

5. Integration, Ethics and Modern Governance

1) Integrating Islamic Ethics with Modern Governance

A holistic approach that harmonizes Islamic ethics with contemporary governance mechanisms is imperative. This fusion seeks to fortify legal frameworks and societal structures promoting human rights, ensuring that Islamic principles resonate with global human rights standards. Aligning laws with Islamic teachings that emphasize justice, equality, and compassion forms the crux of this section. It elucidates on the practical implications of integrating these ethics into the governance framework,

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

presenting case studies and potential policy recommendations for effective implementation.

2) Integrating Islamic Ethics into Modern Governance: Strengthening Human Rights Paradigms

The imperative of a holistic approach that seamlessly merges Islamic ethics with contemporary governance mechanisms resonates profoundly in the pursuit of just and equitable societies. This fusion serves as a linchpin in fortifying legal frameworks and societal structures that underpin human rights, ensuring congruence between Islamic principles and global human rights standards. This section delves into the pivotal task of aligning laws with Islamic teachings, accentuating justice, equality, and compassion as guiding principles. It expounds upon the practical implications of this integration within the governance framework, drawing from scholarly works to elucidate case studies and proffer potential policy recommendations for effective implementation.

3) Harmonizing Islamic Ethics with Contemporary Governance

The nexus between Islamic ethics and governance is explored in Dr. Khaled Abou El Fadl's "The Search for Beauty in Islam." The work illuminates the ethical underpinnings of Islamic law, emphasizing justice, equity, and compassion as central tenets. It underscores the relevance of integrating these principles into modern governance frameworks for fostering societal harmony and human rights protection.[28]

Additionally, Dr. John L. Esposito's "Islam: The Straight Path" offers insights into the ethical dimensions of Islam, advocating for their incorporation into legal and governance structures to ensure fairness and equality.

4) Aligning Laws with Islamic Teachings: Practical Implications

The integration of Islamic ethics into governance frameworks has practical implications. In "The Oxford Handbook of Islam and Politics," scholars expound on the application of Islamic ethical principles in modern governance, highlighting case studies from Muslim-majority countries where efforts have been made to align legal frameworks with Islamic teachings. The book underscores how these initiatives have fostered an environment conducive to upholding human rights while staying rooted in Islamic ethics.[29]

Moreover, Dr. Mohammad Hashim Kamali's "Islamic Law and Governance" presents nuanced discussions on governance in Islam, providing insights into how Islamic ethics can be operationalized within legal systems to ensure justice and equality.

5) Potential Policy Recommendations for Effective Implementation

Policy recommendations stemming from these works emphasize the need for inclusive governance structures that accommodate Islamic ethical principles without compromising universal human rights. Recommendations include fostering dialogue between Islamic scholars and policymakers, facilitating legal reforms aligned with

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

Islamic ethics, and promoting education to enhance societal understanding of Islamic principles in governance.

6) The Synergy of Islamic Ethics and Contemporary Governance

The integration of Islamic ethics into modern governance holds promise in fortifying human rights paradigms. Drawing upon works such as Dr. Khaled Abou El Fadl's "The Search for Beauty in Islam,[30]" Dr. John L. Esposito's "Islam: The Straight Path," "The Oxford Handbook of Islam and Politics," and Dr. Mohammad Hashim Kamali's "Islamic Law and Governance," this synthesis underscores the potential of aligning legal frameworks with Islamic teachings.[31] It emphasizes the significance of this integration in fostering just, equitable, and rights-centric societies while upholding the values enshrined in Islamic ethics.[32]

7) Paving the Way Forward

By contextualizing the Prophet's teachings within Pakistan's contemporary landscape, this research seeks to catalyze actionable measures. Through the strategic fusion of tradition and modernity, the goal is to pave the way for a more equitable and rights-centric society in the Islamic Republic of Pakistan. Embracing the Prophet's teachings not only aligns with Islamic values but also offers a pathway toward embracing universal human rights principles. This section concludes by reiterating the significance of integrating the Prophet's wisdom into Pakistan's journey towards a just and inclusive society.

This extended article delves deeper into the themes outlined in the abstract, providing a more detailed exploration of how the life and teachings of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) can inform and address the contemporary challenges faced by Pakistan in implementing human rights.

Conclusion

In navigating the intricate landscape of human rights implementation in the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, the life and teachings of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) stand as an enduring source of guidance and inspiration. This comprehensive exploration has meticulously unveiled the profound relevance and timeless nature of the Prophet's wisdom in addressing multifaceted challenges and steering Pakistan towards a more equitable, just, and rights-centric society.

The foundational blueprint derived from the Prophet's emphasis on dignity, inclusivity, and social justice provides a guiding beacon, offering pathways to align Pakistan's trajectory with universal human rights principles while preserving its Islamic identity. Delving into the intersection of human rights, law, and society, this discourse has vividly illustrated how the Prophet's actions serve as a cornerstone for fostering equality, safeguarding minority rights, and establishing an equitable governance structure. The resonance between his teachings and contemporary human rights paradigms underscores the enduring relevance and applicability of his wisdom in the current landscape.

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

Furthermore, the exploration into education as a catalyst for change has highlighted the transformative potential of aligning educational curricula with the Prophet's teachings, nurturing a society rooted in tolerance, empathy, and respect for human rights. Additionally, the imperative of empowering marginalized groups, drawing inspiration from the Prophet's advocacy for the vulnerable, has illuminated actionable insights for policymakers and activists, emphasizing the urgency of comprehensive strategies to amplify marginalized voices and address systemic inequalities.

Moreover, the synthesis of integrating Islamic ethics with modern governance mechanisms underscores the potential for fortifying human rights paradigms, ensuring congruence between Islamic principles and global human rights standards. This fusion offers practical implications and potential policy recommendations, accentuating the significance of aligning legal frameworks with Islamic teachings to foster just and equitable societies.

Ultimately, by contextualizing the Prophet's teachings within Pakistan's contemporary context, this comprehensive exploration aims to catalyze actionable measures. Through the strategic fusion of tradition and modernity, the objective is to pave the way for a society that harmonizes Islamic values with universal human rights, fostering inclusivity, justice, and dignity for all. Embracing the Prophet's teachings not only honors Pakistan's Islamic heritage but also charts a course towards a more rights-centric and compassionate society in the Islamic Republic of Pakistan.

Findings:

1. Relevance of Prophetic Teachings: The teachings and actions of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) provide a timeless blueprint for addressing contemporary human rights challenges in Pakistan. His emphasis on dignity, inclusivity, and social justice resonates profoundly with the principles of human rights, offering practical guidance for navigating complex societal landscapes. It needs to application of this data to the implementation through leadership, governance and governing bodies with knowledge and strength.

2. Guiding Principles for Governance: The Prophet's life offers foundational principles for just governance. Aligning legal frameworks with the Prophet's teachings on equality, minority rights, and ethical governance can significantly contribute to establishing a more equitable and rights centric governance structure in Pakistan.

3. Transformative Power of Education: Integrating the Prophet's teachings into educational curricula emerges as a pivotal catalyst for societal transformation. By emphasizing knowledge, inclusivity, and ethical values within education, Pakistan can cultivate a society that upholds human rights, diversity, and inclusivity.

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

4. Empowerment of Marginalized Groups: Drawing inspiration from the Prophet's advocacy for the vulnerable, empowering marginalized communities becomes a crucial imperative. Strategies encompassing legal protections and socio-economic measures are pivotal in creating opportunities and safeguarding the rights of disadvantaged groups.

5. Harmonizing Islamic Ethics with Modern Governance: A holistic approach that integrates Islamic ethics with contemporary governance mechanisms holds promise. Aligning laws with Islamic teachings emphasizing justice, equality, and compassion can fortify human rights paradigms while respecting Pakistan's Islamic heritage.

6. Pathway towards Equitable Society: Contextualizing the Prophet's teachings within Pakistan's contemporary landscape illuminates' actionable measures. A strategic fusion of tradition and modernity offers a pathway for Pakistan to embrace universal human rights principles while honoring its Islamic identity, fostering a just and inclusive society.

7. Reiterating Timeless Relevance: Throughout this exploration, the enduring relevance and applicability of the Prophet's teachings to contemporary challenges stand out. His emphasis on compassion, justice, and equality provides a guiding light for Pakistan's journey towards a rights-centric society. These findings encapsulate the insights gleaned from the Prophet's teachings and their potential implications for addressing human rights challenges in Pakistan, offering a roadmap for actionable measures grounded in ethical principles and global standards.

1 Quran, 2:256.
2 Quran, 49:13
3.Ahmad ibn Hanbal, Abu ʿAbd Allah Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Hanbal. Musnad Ahmad ibn Hanbal. Beirut: Muʾassasat al-Risalah, 1st ed., 1421 AH. Hadith 23489.
4 Quran, 17:70
5.Ramadan, Tariq. In the Footsteps of the Prophet: Lessons from the Life of Muhammad. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007.
6. al-Bukhari, Muhammad ibn Ismaʿil Abu ʿAbd Allah. Sahih al-Bukhari. Beirut: Dar Ibn Kathir, 3rd ed., 1407 AH. Hadith 2995.

Islamabad Islamicus Research Journal
ISSN: 2707-7225(print), 2707-7233 (online)
Vol 09, No 01, Jan- Jun 2026
Publisher: Islamabad Education & Relief Foundation
Open Access at: www.islamabadislamicus.com
Email:islamabadislamicus@gmail.com
Page No: 19-31

7. al-Bayhaqi, Abu Bakr Ahmad ibn al-Husayn ibn ʿAli. al-Sunan al-Kubra. Beirut: Dar al-Kutub al-ʿIlmiyyah, 3rd ed., 1424 AH. Hadith 15934.
8 Quran, 60:8
9.Lings, Martin. Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources. Rochester, VT: Inner Traditions, 2006.
10. Abou El Fadl, Khaled. The Search for Beauty in Islam: A Conference of the Books. Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2006.
11 Quran, 38:26
12. Ramadan, Tariq. In the Footsteps of the Prophet: Lessons from the Life of Muhammad. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007.
13.Abou El Fadl, Khaled. The Search for Beauty in Islam: A Conference of the Books. Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2006.
14.al-Tirmidhi, Muhammad ibn ʿIsa ibn Sawrah ibn Musa Abu ʿIsa. Sunan al-Tirmidhi. Beirut: Dar al-Gharb al-Islami, 1998. Hadith 1930.
15 Quran, 96:1-5
16 Quran, 39:9
17.Lings, Martin. Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources. Rochester, VT: Inner Traditions, 2006.

18.Ramadan, Tariq. In the Footsteps of the Prophet: Lessons from the Life of Muhammad. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007.
19.Abou El Fadl, Khaled. The Search for Beauty in Islam: A Conference of the Books. Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2006.
20.Abou El Fadl, Khaled. The Search for Beauty in Islam: A Conference of the Books. Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2006.
21 Quran, 5:8
22. Ramadan, Tariq. In the Footsteps of the Prophet: Lessons from the Life of Muhammad. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007.
23.Sonbol, Amira. Gender and Women's Studies in the Middle East and North Africa: A Critical Review. New York: Syracuse University Press, 2011.
24.United Nations Development Program. Human Development Reports: Social Inclusion. Accessed January 21, 2024. https://hdr.undp.org/en/indicators/137506.
25.Ramadan, Tariq. In the Footsteps of the Prophet: Lessons from the Life of Muhammad. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007.
26.United Nations Development Program. Human Development Reports: Social Inclusion. Accessed January 21, 2024. https://hdr.undp.org/en/indicators/137506.
27.Sonbol, Amira. Gender and Women's Studies in the Middle East and North Africa: A Critical Review. New York: Syracuse University Press, 2011.
28.Abou El Fadl, Khaled. The Search for Beauty in Islam: A Conference of the Books. Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2006.
29.Esposito, John L., and Emad El-Din Shahin, eds. The Oxford Handbook of Islam and Politics. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2013.
30.Abou El Fadl, Khaled. The Search for Beauty in Islam: A Conference of the Books. Lanham, MD: Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2006.
31.Esposito, John L., and Emad El-Din Shahin, eds. The Oxford Handbook of Islam and Politics. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2013.
32.Kamali, Mohammad Hashim. Islamic Law and Governance. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2011.